Tea Timer is a handy Windows program designed to easily calculate and display how long tea has been brewed for. You can also calculate the number of cups of tea brewed. Tea Timer has several features that make it stand out of the crowd, for example: - Detailed statistics and history of use - Dozens of possible parameters and scenarios - Various time and distance units Additionally, Tea Timer is capable of calculating the number of cups of tea brewed. This can be done by specifying the amount of water, milk, tea bags, pot size, and steeping time. All that Tea Timer needs is an Internet connection, and it will automatically scan the relevant website as soon as the program is launched. It can also be configured to be triggered at any time using Windows Scheduler. A handy utility to track tea-making time All in all, this is a useful utility that can help you time your tea-making process. Its features enable you to see a detailed breakdown of used parameters and results. Note that Tea Timer is not designed to be a professional time-tracking and project management application. It's purely for finding out how long tea has been brewed for, and calculating the number of cups brewed. Tasks Scheduler is a useful utility that lets you easily create, edit, and launch customized tasks and time management schedules. Simple to set up and customize tasks lists Tasks Scheduler is packed with many useful features that you will be able to use to quickly create, edit, and launch customized tasks lists. When you first launch it, the program displays a small menu with some of its main features. From here, you can select between the default tasks list, a predefined template for creating new ones, import an existing project, or choose from a wide range of objects and folders. Essentially, this program enables you to set up multiple categories for your projects and assign values to each one, so you can easily categorize or filter them. Powerful task management software When you start the program, you will need to go through the wizard that displays a list of templates that you can choose from. The program will create your new tasks list based on one of the templates and will allow you to customize it afterwards using the properties panel. Multiple customization options for all projects As you can see, the application enables you to create flexible, customizable, and easy-to-navigate tasks lists. Its interface includes a handy properties panel that provides
