For example, I have a search field on my query which is used for searching. I have a query like this:

$query = DB::table('users') ->join('devices', 'users.device_id', '=', 'devices.id') ->join('payments', 'users.id', '=', 'payments.user_id') ->join('invoices', 'users.id', '=', 'invoices.user_id') ->select('users.*', 'devices.name', 'payments.total', 'invoices.total') ->where('users.first_name', 'like', '%'. $search. '%') ->orWhere('users.last_name', 'like', '%'. $search. '%') ->orWhere('users.username', 'like', '%'. $search. '%') ->paginate(20);

 The problem with this is that by default the paginate is set to 20 entries, but the result set could be more then that. So I need to paginate and I would like to make pagination on the search results. I know there is the limit function I could use, but it won't work here. How do I go about this? I am using Laravel 5.2 and i have already tried these: $page = Request
